CS4012 AY20/21 HTML Project

This is a group assignment (four per group) to produce a web site for a not for profit (fictional) organisation. The site must be built using just a text editor (e.g. Notepad++). Web building tools are not allowed.

The assignment must include:

- Multiple pages
- Multiple HTML Elements
- Images
- Audio
- Video

The assignment will be graded on the following:

- Look and feel: That is, does this look like it could really be a company website?
- Overall effort: Did the group seem to put a lot of thought behind this? Or was it just thrown together in a few minutes?
- Ease of use.
- Is the website logically arranged? Don't simply put everything together on one page. Divide the website up into several pages and make the navigation between them clear.
- Multimedia: Does the website exhibit the HTML based multimedia suggested? Does it do so in a sensible manner?
- Well-formed HTML: Is the HTML properly written? For example, all opening tags have corresponding closing tags, etc.
- CSS: Have you used style sheets appropriately?
- Use of absolute/relative file paths as appropriate.
- Adherence to the guidelines: Did the group follow the assignment instructions?

Read the following instructions carefully - failure to do so may make it impossible to grade your assignment.

Group Details:

By Monday, November 16th, you need to have chosen your group and a group name. Add details of your group to the spreadsheet at the following link. Leave a blank row between each group. If you do not have a group or have a group of less than four then you should still add your details to this spreadsheet, and I will create or modify groups.

https://docs.google.com/spreadsheets/d/1xELMU--HimYgZEBMfDkONxUrKkUPKLEIfQ_THEUVsTQ/edit?usp=sharing

Submission Instructions:
Please ensure that you use relative file paths in your HTML files.

The project will be submitted on Sulis. Only one team member should submit the project. You must submit a compressed file (zip or rar) of your entire site and submit by 5pm Tuesday 15th December.